

EXPERIENCED PROSECUTOR COURSE

SAVANNAH, GEORGIA | OCTOBER 15 - 19, 2012

NDAA is pleased to offer the 2012 Experienced Prosecutor Course in historic Savannah, Georgia.

Ideal for small office elected prosecutors, trial team leaders, chief deputies, bureau chiefs, and those aspiring to such positions, the Experienced Course provides critical training and education to help attendees move beyond the courtroom into management and policy-making activities.

If you find yourself in the board room as often as the courtroom; if you are responsible for training, motivating, and organizing your staff; if your responsibilities still include casework but have expanded to include management; if the initials after your name are "JD" and not "MBA," then this is the course for you.

NDAA's experienced faculty and lecturers will lead this highly interactive course with an eye to providing real-life expertise in a variety of areas:

- Transitioning from litigator to supervisor
- Maintaining Morale and Motivating your Staff
- Employment Law for Prosecutors
- Effective Training Techniques
- Ethics in Management and Supervision
- Ethics in Supervision
- Advanced Cross-Examination
- Admitting Electronic Evidence
- Responding to Unexpected Defenses
- Prosecuting the Politically-Charged Case
- The Prosecutor's Role in the Community

The lectures will be supplemented with small-group breakout sessions that will address a number of common management, ethical, and docket control issues. Attendees will have the opportunity to learn from colleagues from around the country and offer their own insights to the discussion process.

Standing 15 stories tall in the heart of Savannah's Historic District, regally overlooking Madison Square, dignified places of worship, stately mansions, and towering oaks draped in Spanish moss, the Hilton Savannah DeSoto is a timeless sparkle in Georgia's "coastal crown jewel" amongst Savannah, GA, hotels.

Park your car keys... you are only footsteps away from Savannah's most treasured landmarks, museums, theaters, parks, and award-winning dining and shopping. Whether you're traveling for pleasure or business, we'll make sure your rendezvous with history is filled with 21st century comforts and the light and warmth of southern hospitality.

Hotel History

Built in 1890 on the site of Oglethorpe's Barracks, the original DeSoto was the town's unremitting purveyor of hospitality. Celebrities, dignitaries, and presidents were among its guests, setting the bar for Savannah's tourism. Today the Hilton Savannah DeSoto continues to stand as one of The Historic District's leading full-service hotels, providing an unmatched setting for leisure and business travelers.

A sitting room dedicated to the history of the DeSoto affords guests a glimpse of the hotel's past. The original crystal chandeliers, which were once described as "sparkling clusters of jewels," still shine brilliantly in the hotel's entryway.
